

Wednesday, April 7, 2004

Quick Bites

What's new to eat in the Cincinnati area

JACKIE GUBENO | CIN WEEKLY

SEBASTIAN'S SATISFIES YOUR FETA FETISH

Good gyros may be hard to come by in Cincinnati, but you can satisfy your craving for the unique savory sandwiches and other Greek cuisine at Sebastian's.

The Price Hill eatery, located at 5209 Glenway Ave. at the corner of Glenway and Sidney, offers chicken gyro sandwiches in addition to the classic variety for about $3.75.

In addition to gyros, Sebastian's also has Greek salads and Greek fries, specially seasoned with oregano. And of course, Sebastian's has items such as baklava to tempt your sweet tooth.

Open from 10:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday, Sebastian's serves a thriving lunch crowd. Almost everything on the menu falls within a price range of $3-$6.

Call (513) 471-2100.